

J. S. senator to speak on campus Tuesday

Senator Frank E. Moss (D-Ut.) will speak on his recent mission to Africa, Tuesday at 4:15 p.m. in 184 Knight Hall. The public is invited.

SENATOR MOSS, who is in his first term as a U. S. Senator, was elected in 1958 in a re-elected race with Republican Senator Arthur V. Watkins and former Republican Governor J. Bracken Lee, who ran for the Senate as an independent.

The 50-year-old Utah Democrat was born in Holladay, Utah, and to Salt Lake public schools. He graduated from the University of Utah with a B.A. degree in 1933. He studied law at George Washington University and was awarded the degree of Juris Doctor in 1937.

AFTER SPENDING two years on the legal staff of the Securities and Exchange Commission, he returned to Utah in 1939 to become law clerk to the late James H. Wolfe, Justice of the Utah Supreme Court.

Senator Moss was elected judge of the Salt Lake City Court in 1940 and served two terms. World War II interrupted his career on the bench when he was called into the U. S. Army Air Corps where he served in the Judge Advocate General's Department in the European theater of operations. He now holds the rank of Colonel in the U. S. Air Force Reserve.

IMMEDIATELY prior to his election to the Senate, Mr. Moss was Salt Lake County Attorney. Senator Moss's assignments in the Senate are to the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, the Public Works Committee, the Senate Small Business Committee and the Select Committee on National Water Resources.

His Senate service has called him abroad several times.

ON HIS LAST trip just prior to the 87th Congress, Senator Moss accompanied Senator Frank Church of Idaho on a special mission to Africa in behalf of the newly-elected Kennedy Administration. It is this trip which will serve as the basis of the Senator's talk on Tuesday.

SENATOR FRANK E. MOSS

Public readings to be given by youthful scripture students

Janet Barney, executive campus editor, wants to communicate the scriptures to the young generation," said Mrs. Grace Stewart, a BYU graduate and director of the BYU Education Youth Program.

"I feel the program is important I want them to know when I can no longer do it," she said.

ASK CLUB members as other interested students public will have an opportunity Monday at 7 p.m. in Col. Hall Auditorium to test Mrs. Stewart's theory that they can bring the scriptures actually alive to their el-readers will give from their special cuttings from the gospels, Matthew, Mark, and John. They will be accompanying by the Tabernacle organ on records. Pictures of Christ will be set.

THE CHILDREN as well as the ushers will be dressed in white. Usually the children hold white bibles, but on an experiment they will not hold them this time so they may use their bodies more freely in interpretation, Mrs. Stewart said.

Many of the children who will participate Monday afternoon have not had previous experience in public performance.

Because of the sacred nature of the program the doors will be closed at 7 p.m. The program will last about an hour. Those who do not have Mask Club cards will be charged 25 cents admission.

MRS. STEWART has devoted her life to the dramatic arts but said her favorite endeavor has always been the teaching of the scriptures, especially the Bible. The inspiration for starting her program to bring the scriptures alive through youth to their elders came when she so frequently heard the General Authorities speak of the importance of the scriptures. She sought a way to bring vividly to life the admonition, parables, miracles and life of Jesus to both youth and age.

She has taught Bible readings for many years but just four years ago added the musical and pictorial accompaniment.

Twenty five of the 160 "youth missionaries," as Mrs. Stewart calls her pupils, have a 50-minute cutting of one of the four gospels memorized. Some of the youth have also memorized and performed Book of Mormon cuttings.

OVER 650 presentations of this "greatest of stories" have been given. Within the last year and a half programs have been given from the New England Mission to California. The "youth missionaries" have given many programs for BYU social units, according to Mrs. Stewart.

For $2.25 the Photo Studio will prepare 20 semi-glossy prints. The pictures will be taken Oct. 25, 26 and 27 at the Photo Studio in 276 Eyring Science Center. No appointment is necessary.

PARTICIPANTS may stop in at the Photo Studio Nov. 13 to select which of three poses they wish to have retouched and finished.

In the past, most seniors and graduates have desired to obtain pictures for graduate school and employment application and department or college use.

The following prices for 12 photos have been quoted to the Placement Center by Provo commercial photographers and by the Photo Studio for days other than Oct. 25-27:

Biddulph-Stum ..... $6
Stevenson's ..... $3.25

STUDENTS ARE reminded to choose their clothes carefully when they have their pictures taken. Men should wear acoat and tie.

Whether or not seniors or graduate students plan to actively seek employment at this time they should take advantage of this opportunity, said Mr. Duffin.

THE OUTCOME of the week end home wrangle is more definite. Out of 36 junior varsity teams competing at the end of four preliminary rounds, four teams were undefeated, the top two being BYU pairs.

Since BYU was hosting, it dropped out of the picture at the semi-finals, leaving Idaho State, Weber and two teams from the University of Utah facing each other.

Debate students take honors

A first place extemporaneous speaking, a third place in interpretive reading, an excellent in extemporaneous, and an underlined position in debate are the booty of six BYU participants in the weekend Gem State Forensics Tournament at Idaho State College in Pocatello.

Reba Keel, junior transfer student from Carbon College, took the first place trophy in extemporaneous; Sally Kirkman outperformed all but two of her competitors in interpretive reading, and Joan Warner, trying both debate and individual events, capped an excellent in oratory.

THE TWO debate teams, Larry Storrs and Joan Warner and Wayne Shamo and Lamont Mills, are awaiting notification through the mail of their standings.

When the ratings were tallied, Linfield College, Oregon, came up with the highest number of points in the affirmative teams, and the University of Oregon the highest of the negative teams.

THE U OF U teams emerged victorious in both of the semi-final rounds, so went home with first and second place trophies.

MISS BENZLEY is majoring in elementary education. She is a class senator and treasurer of Azayan Trata.

"Our Best Years Unfulfilled" is the theme for the annual Homecoming Week, beginning Oct. 30 and extending through Nov. 4. The week's activities will spotlight the great expansion in buildings and physical facilities, studentbody, faculty and curriculum at BYU.

Ag judges grab prizes at Portland exposition

BYU's meat judging team was awarded first place in lamb meat judging at the Pacific International Exposition's Intercollegiate Meat Judging Contest, team coach Dr. Keith H. Hoopes said Thursday.

A MEMBER of the team, Dale Rex, placed second in the tournament with 826 out of the possible 1,000 individual points. Rex is a senior in animal husbandry from Randolph, Utah.

Coach Hoopes, who is also assistant professor of animal husbandry, accompanied the team to the meet which was held at the Exposition's pavilion in Portland, Ore. He explained why the department was so proud of the team's accomplishment. "We were in fast company."

HE WENT ON to say that the other five colleges entered in the contest have outstanding animal husbandry departments and are considered very competent in the judging field.

Other members of the team are Gurn Brown, an animal husbandry senior from Lovell, Wyo., and Wayne Perkins, a San Ysidro, Calif. senior in animal husbandry.

THE JUDGING contest, held

Oct. 17, was part of the P.I.E. Livestock Exposition which is one of four big livestock shows in the West, Dr. Hoopes explained. It is an annual event held in connection with the Exposition's rodeo.

The BYU team placed fourth in the entire contest of nine separate areas with 2336 points from the 3,000 possible.

After Bill Nelson ran the kickoff back to BYU's 36-yard line, the Cougars showed their only offensive spark of the day as they marched 64 yards in eight plays to garner their lone touchdown.

THE KEX PLAY in the series came when Bill Wright lofted a lengthy aerial to Paul Allen, who scampered to the Wyoming 19 before he was pulled down. After a series of line smashes and end sweeps, Wright rumbled into the end zone from the Cowpoke three plays later. Wright's pass to Don Peterson for two points made the score 14-8.

Dick Behning received credit for the next Wyoming six-point er when he split the Cougar line from the one, making the score 20-8. Dan Taylor broke up the Wright's kicks kept Wyoming from bottling up the Cougars deep in their own territory during this period. On a first-down play from his own two yard line, Bill unleashed a booming quick kick that sailed 66 yards, then rolled down the field five yards deep into Wyoming's end zone, a total distance of 110 yards.

Capitalizing rapidly on this rare opportunity, the Cowboys marched for the score, with Linton garnering his second score of the afternoon by slicing over the goal line from three yards out.

TWO MINUTES later on a fourth-down punting situation, Wyoming's hard-charging line broke through to block Wright's kick, the ball bounding out of the end zone for a two-point safety, to run the tally to 29-8 for Wyoming.

The Cowboys finished their scoring with three minutes left, when Mike Schutte capped a 47-yard drive by skittering through would-be tacklers on a 15-yard end sweep for the major score. The successful conversion added Wyoming's 36th point onto the scoreboard.

Music class to be given Mondays

Music lovers will find pleasant relaxation, entertainment, and cultural education every Monday evening from 6:30 to 9 p.m. in the East Lounge of the Social Hall at a "collegium musicum," said BYU assistant professor in musicology Clawson Cannon.

He explained that the "collegium musicum" is "an organization that performs music covering a great field of repertoire rather than concentrating on a few specialized areas."

"THE PURPOSE of the organization is to perform music in order to learn it," said Prof. Cannon.

"Collegium musicum is being presented as a formal class in the music curriculum. As a public presentation it offers an opportunity for music students and listeners to become acquainted with a vast repertoire of music," continued Prof. Cannon. "Charts that had their origin in the 4th and 5th centuries as well as music from the Middle Ages and up to the modern 20th century period make up the various programs."

EVEN THE uninformed listener will not be lost because a brief description of the unusual stylistic features and historical background precedes the performance of each piece of music.

Participants and listeners can understand the actual structure of the music and its relationship in the whole history of music, according to Prof. Cannon.

European schools have traditionally studied music by actual performance rather than by listening to recordings or just reading the musical score. In America the idea is a rather recent innovation, Prof. Cannon added.

"We will attempt to provide listeners a chance to follow the musical score," he said.

Telephone call helps identify lawn vandals

by Frank Aydelotte

An anonymous phone call earlier last week provided Capt. Sven C. Nielsen of the BYU Security Dept. with information which led to the arrest of a high school student charged with damaging University property.

SHORTLY AFTER 2 a.m. Oct. 7 witnesses saw a car being driven on the lawns around Heritage Hall. Ruts were dug in the grass damaging the lawns. The witnesses were unable to identify the driver or get the car license number.

"We had no positive information to work with," Capt. Nielsen said, "until we received a phone call two days later identifying the driver and the car."

THE VANDAL, whose name has been withheld, was a student from Provo High School. He has been charged with destroying property, disturbing the peace and consuming alcoholic beverages while driving, which he admitted. The case has been turned over to the juvenile authorities.

"Solving the case was possible only because someone was willing to cooperate with us," Capt. Nielsen said. He also pointed out that two other cases were solved recently because of similar cooperation.

Frolics, dance, concert—$4...

A guy and his gal may attend Fieldhouse Frolics and the Homecoming dance Nov. 3 and the concert Nov. 4 for only $4 if they obtain a special compact ticket, according to Karen Earl, ticket committee chairman.

If the couple were to purchase separate tickets for each of the events they would pay a total of $5—$1.50 for the frolics, $1.50 for the dance and $2 for the concert.

STAG combination tickets will also be sold for $2. The purchaser will save 50 cents, for he would pay 75 cents for the Frolics, 75 cents for the dance and $1 for the concert.

Tickets go on sale Monday until Homecoming weekend in the lobby of the Smith Family Living Center, Joseph Smith Building, and the Eyring Science Center.

EACH TICKET will have a specific dancing place written on it and will be good only for that hall. This is to keep the crowd within the capacity of the building, Miss Earl said. Couples will dance at Smith

Fieldhouse, Smith Family Living Center, Cannon Center, and the Joseph Smith

Provost School. Stags and who buy only dance tickets will dance at the Joseph Smith Building. Individual tickets for activities will be on sale week.
